

Quality Policy

A.G. Scientific, Inc will continually strive to be a recognized competitive supplier in global biochemical & laboratory reagent marketplace utilizing trained employees and state of the art technology to provide our customers with quality components. We will achieve our quality goals by maintaining a Quality Management System that focuses on continual improvement through teamwork, individual responsibility, personnel development, and open communications with our employees, customers, and suppliers. All with the intended purpose of supplying product to our clients that is of the highest quality, usefulness, and innovation.